Felix Lugo Named Dean of Residential Life at Springdale Preparatory School

NEW WINDSOR, MD (May 2, 2017) – Felix Lugo, an experienced residential life administrator at several top global boarding schools in the United States, has been named dean of residential life at Springdale Preparatory School, a co-educational day and boarding school located in New Windsor, in Carroll County, Maryland.

Lugo has a cumulative 10 years of residential life management experience. Most recently, Lugo served in dual roles at San Joaquin Memorial High School in Fresno, Ca. As director of international student services, Lugo oversaw the international program for homestay and boarding students, supervising such functions as recruitment, admissions, acculturation and student support. He also served as live-in director of residential life, supervising residential hall managers, residential advisors and international boarding chefs. In this capacity, he directed a 400-percent growth in residential population and boosted student productivity by 50 percent using an online tracking system and boosted staff productivity and effectiveness by 75 percent.

Previously, Lugo was live-in weekend activity coordinator and live-in senior house parent at Leman Manhattan Preparatory School in New York. He planned and executed student activities, created a food voucher program and led residence hall daily operations. At the Vanguard School in Lake Wales, Fla., Lugo served as live-in assistant director of residential life and live-in residential dean. He supervised a 32-member staff and drove all administrative, legal and financial functions and played a key role in increasing recreational activity participation by 98 percent and led the creation of new clubs and activities for the school.

“With extensive experience, Felix Lugo is the ideal fit to direct the residential life program at Springdale Preparatory School,” says Johnny Graham, founding head of school. “He has led several top global boarding schools and directed their growth and we look forward to his innovative contributions as we grow Springdale into one of the premiere boarding schools in the region.”

Lugo earned a master’s degree in management from Warner University in Lake Wales, Fla. He earned a bachelor’s degree in business management from Monroe College. He has completed additional training at Rockhurst University, Love & Logic Institute, The Association of Boarding Schools and Cross Country Education.

About Springdale Preparatory School

Springdale Preparatory School is a new, co-educational day and boarding school located on 21 acres in northern Maryland's rolling countryside. A college preparatory school with a diverse student population from Maryland counties, other states across the country and from all over the world, Springdale Prep offers rigorous academics while equipping all learners with the tools needed to meet all of life's challenges. Springdale prepares students for enduring success beginning with a foundation of respect for other students, faculty, and the world around them. Students develop strong relationships with each other and with faculty, who help to shape them to become tomorrow's leaders. Whether in the classroom, in the dormitory, or on the athletic fields, students experience learning through innovation and develop the skills needed to embrace lifelong learning and make a difference.
